

Alice Knight of Newnham, widow, 1686

Ref: Hants. 1686B/27

Memorandum that upon or near the first day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred eighty six Alice Knight of the parish of Newnham in the county of Southampton widow, being sick in body but of sound and perfect memory did make and declare her last will and testament nuncupative or by word of mouth in the hearing and presence of us whose names are here underwritten as follows, or in words to the same effect, vizt: imprimis to the children of John Winter of Herriard in the county aforesaid carpenter, and Anne his wife, her grandchild twenty pounds in ready money which she had in the house. Item to John Summers' son John Summers of Mapledurwell, she did give and bequeath the feather bed behind her chamber door together with all furniture of sheets, blankets and other things to the same bed belonging, and also five pounds in money. Whereof we have hereunto set our hands the [missing] in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred eighty six.

The hands that were set to the nuncupative will of Alice Knight are

John Hooker of Holt in whose possession the nuncupative will now is John Apleton and his wife Mary
Mary Hooker

One of the same witnesses with more heard this repeated before John Winter who has smothered this will.